ANIMAL TESTING STATEMENT

October 1, 2019

To Whom It May Concern:

SnugZ USA takes great pride in knowing that no animal testing is conducted or commissioned on any of our raw ingredients in any phase of product development. We do not conduct nor request animal testing in order to substantiate the safety or efficacy of any of our raw ingredients.

In some countries, products may be required by law to undergo additional safety testing and this may include animal tests. In these instances, SnugZ USA will not conduct business with such entities within those countries that have a mandatory animal testing policy.

The toxicity information contained in our SDS (Safety Data Sheets) are derived from the study of databases for product classifications in the GHS (Globally Harmonized System).

We at SnugZ USA are proud of our commitment and continue to provide products that deliver proven, unique performance while focusing on sustainability and reducing environmental impact.

Should you have any additional questions please don't hesitate to reach out to me directly.

Warm regards,
